

LOOK AT THE BRIGHT SIDE OF TECHNOLOGY

Dear [FirstName] ,

It's a crazy time, to say the least. How are you holding up? As if the stress and anxiety from the daily news and developments weren't enough, we know many of you facing real hardships and challenges with health, projects, income and more. SITECH® is here for you through these difficult times.

We have put our heads together to find some opportunities amongst the challenges. Although many of us are working from home or finding other solutions to keep our communities safe, here is a list of ideas to keep us moving forward.

- It is a good time for servicing your instruments so you can begin with your technology in top condition. SITECH offers certification services, repairs and product upgrades.
- Make use of learn.trimble.com to acquire or refresh your knowledge of the technology you use daily. The only thing you need is a Trimble ID.
- Get personal online training from your SITECH experts. Trimble construction technology is a game changer. To benefit from all it offers, you might need a refresher or you may have a new team member. Let's talk and make sure you get the right training.
- Update your technology with the latest software and firmware to operate at your best and stay competitive. If you're not sure what you have or if there is a newer version, give us a call. Our support team is here to help.
- Take a step back and look at the data your Trimble technology makes available to you. Time to look at productivity reports and access key information to take decisions crucial for reinforcing your bottom line. If you need help interpreting the data, give us a call.

Please feel free to reach out to your SITECH representative if you have any questions. Your business is critical. We are here to support you!

Stay safe and healthy!

Regards,
